AN EXPLANATION

The Editors owe their subscribers an explanation and an apology in regard to the apparent failure to issue an index. In January the index and title page, making a pamphlet of eight pages, was prepared and printed. Instructions were given to the binder, who also attended to the mailing, to send a copy of this pamphlet to every subscriber with the February number. Inquiries continued to come in for the index. At first we thought that some had been lost in the mail. But as the inquiries continued, we investigated the matter, and found out that the binder had in some inexplicable way neglected the index entirely. The entire lot was found in the original package in the bindery only a few days ago. A copy is sent to every subscriber with this number. If any subscriber fails to receive one, we hope he will report the fact promptly, when another copy will be sent at once. We need hardly say that we deeply regret the annoyance caused our subscribers by this delay.
